so, what is it?

your ideal summer

what

You've seen the marketing spiel, you like the pretty pictures and you can definitely picture yourself on one of those boats;

So now we're going to drill down on the detail for you...

where

croatia or greece

think

Quite simply... it's you and your friends on your own private yacht for a week, cruising the Mediterranean sea, hopping between the most beautiful islands with a flotilla of other yachts and uni groups, stopping in a different harbour each night & partying at the coolest beach bars, clubs and secret venues.

what's included?

what's not included?

all aboard!

one

flights: fly to split, croatia, or athens, greece

There are heaps of flights from most UK airports. They are often cheaper mid-week, so if you have the time why not fly a few days early and explore the local hostel scene.

two

transfers

Options are taxi, public bus or private transfer and will vary between £4 and £20 per person.

three

spending money

Food and drink for the week, which if you eat lunch on board every day, a few dinners on board and a pre on deck before heading out, can be pretty reasonable £. Local wine and beer is a bargain!

programme

the day what happens in the day?

each morning,

you will leave the harbour where you stayed the night before and head to the next island, stopping off in bays each day for you to swim, play, eat, drink and relax.

each day really is like a dream wake up, blow away the cobwebs with a quick dip, have a breakfast feast ashore at a local cafe (each day we will recommend where you go), stock up on fresh food and beers for lunch and then set sail, flag flying!

what your week will look like

après

you bring the beers, we'll bring the floaties

après at the waters edge

Redefining après for summer... once you are moored up, you will have the option to either head into the local harbour and town to explore the beaches and local sites or get the floaties out for an epic après experience.

pre's like no other

The cabins are a place to put your head & store your stuff. Everything else happens on deck and for pre drinks, we can't really think of a better venue to hang out together.

night

party under the stars

moor up with your
flotilla for sundowners
like no other...

and then...the next
day, get up and do it
all again!
