pre-travel checklist

Travel insurance

Please ensure your policy covers sailing, and if asked, you will not be sailing more than 12 miles offshore (its a typical exclusion) at any time throughout the week.

Packing list

Swimmers and sunnies are your basics, but we've got a handy list of things you might want to bring to fully enjoy the armada experience.

see here

arrival & departure

You'll start and finish your week in Alimos Marina, Athens. The Marina is located just over 30 km from the airport.

 Alimos Marina Alimos Athens 174 55
Check-in is located at Charter Village

 Check in opens at 4pm on Saturday afternoon but yachts are often not ready until 6pm. If you get there early, relax with a drink in the sunshine

 If you're arriving after 7pm, we will be in touch to arrange your check in Checkout... we return to the base by 3pm on the Friday afternoon so you're welcome to depart on Friday evening flights. You must be off the yachts by 6pm Friday.

getting to base

the closest airport to our base is Athens Airport. Flights to Athens are available from London, Manchester and Edinburgh on a Saturday throughout the summer.

taxi

Metered taxis operate from the airport. The journey to our base will cost around €45-50 in an Uber. Bolt is also available in Athens, Greece.

bus from athens

The easiest way to get from Athens airport to our base is by Bus. EXPRESS X96 from Athens Airport: Destination PIRAEUS (PIREAS).

For Marina ALIMOS get off at bus stop EDEM. The stop is opposite of the entrance. The entrance of the marina is in front of SHELL station.

transfers

JamTransfer is a multi-national company dedicated to airport taxi and transfer services if you would prefer to book in advance

money
money
money

Cash machines are readily accessible and widely available. ATMs usually accept standard international credit and debit cards including Visa and Mastercard and travel cards including Monzo.

- Remember to feed your skipper! When chartering skippered-yachts, it is common courtesy to account for your skipper's meals, whether cooking an extra portion for them, or splitting the cost of their meal if you're eating out.
- At the end of your week, the yacht will need to be re-filled with diesel. We estimate this will cost around 20€pp but obviously the more you've sailed and the less you've motored, the less fuel you'll have used!

your floating home

Your yacht is your home for the week, and unless you packed Dobby the house elf in your duffel bag/backpack, keeping it clean and tidy is down to you. It's pretty simple- leave it just as you found it.

The charter companies will charge an additional cleaning fee if the yachts are returned in a poor state, so keep your yacht clean and tidy throughout the week to save a big cleaning job on your final morning.

Also, remember when the sails go up on a yacht, the yacht leans to one side, so anything not secured can fall into the sea. Therefore, it's best practice to put everything away in your cabin once you've finished using it, to save mess or damage to belongings while out on the water.

remember to fly your flag high

And follow the armada floating soundtracks to play out on deck; a different beat for different times of the day

your armãda week

the route and programme are subject to change depending on the weather

we cannot wait to show you what armada is all about. Here is a bit of a taster into what your week may look like. The schedule changes day by day and week by week so your reps will communicate the plans each day. BUT just to give you an idea...

Athens

Check in at the armada base, dump your bags onboard and spend the day uncovering historic secrets from the cobbled streets. Meet your skipper and reps for the week as you hear the programme and settle in watching your first island sunset. After dinner you'll join the rest of the flotilla for some drinks at a local bar.

sunday

Agia Marina

Get ready for a day full of pinch me moments as we head towards Agia Marina, a charming fishing village full of waterside cafes and tavernas.

Stop en route to explore some rocky coves and then moor up for the afternoon in time to join the flotilla for beach volleyball and sunset cocktails. In the evening we'll rep our legendary opening night party, setting the tone for the week ahead.

Perdika

We invite you to start the day with a mindful moment of meditation by the crystal waters, to bring back the zen after the escapades of the night before.

Enjoy as your skipper takes you to other side of the island to Perdika. As the sun sets, we head to Famous Grouse Bar, where armada's DJ takes over the decks and brings the energy, the music, and the kind of night that keeps going.

Ermioni

We'll depart early and set sail for Ermioni, sat atop of a peninsula boasting stunning views for miles around.

Spend the day dancing away with your besties on your own floating home, with your banging soundtrack and cold beers supplying the vibes.

Explore the bustling bars for an afternoon aperol, then grab dinner as the sun sets, opening into a sky full of stars. We'll be heading to Millenium Bar for a night full of mischief, dancing until the wee hours of the morning.

wednesday

Dokos

Wakeup, suit up and blow off any cobwebs with a morning dip in the aqua blue waters then head off on our next sailing adventure. We'll anchor drop together in a secluded natural bay of an uninhabited island where only mountain goats roam the shore. We'll be making a raft, creating the ultimate floating dance floor. Expect floaties, big tunes and some flamingling. As the darkness comes allow yourself to be mesmerised by the speckled starry night skies of the Adriatic ocean.

thursday

Poros

We leave the best till last on the Athens Route, with a visit to the picturesque island of Poros. Heavenly cocktail bars, authentic restaurants and boutique shops line the promenade.

So explore before we head en masse to Malibu nightclub to dance until the sun comes up.

friday

Back to Base

Whether you're seeking a flaky pastry and strong coffee or quite possibly a Bloody Mary we'll spend the morning sailing back to base. Get ready to check out of your boat and depart knowing you have made some friends for life.

Cue the mopey playlist for the flight home.

8 ways to be more sustainable this armãda week.

1. Bring a refillable water bottle to reduce plastic waste.
2. Consider eco-friendly transportation options instead of air travel.
3. Help keep the ocean clean by picking up any plastic or rubbish you see while on board.
4. Join us for a group beach clean during the trip to help preserve the beauty of the beaches we visit.
5. Use sea-safe sun cream, like Hawaiian Tropics 100% Mineral Actives, which is under £10 and provides UVA and UVB protection without chemical filters or parabens.
6. Save water by showering less during the trip.
7. Say no to plastic straws.
8. Recycle using recycling bins you'll find along the way.

sustainability looks good on you.

shopping list

personal responsibility

Your safety is of paramount importance to us. We are not here to mother you and there is a huge amount of personal responsibility that must be taken on board by each and every person. Look after each other

water safety

Please remember that you are surrounded by water, which adds a certain 'danger' level to the holiday, particularly when drinking is involved. Look after yourself and each other. Take care around the water, stepping on and off your yacht and walking on pontoons

drinking: the rules

1. Do not sail your yacht if you have been drinking.
2. Do not swim in the ocean if you have been drinking.
3. Do not operate a dinghy, with or without an outboard engine if you have been drinking.
4. If drinking on board your yacht at night when at anchor, we ask that you wear a lifejacket. You may look a bit silly but hey, it's worth it
- 5: Please be careful in shallow waters- do not dive in !

expectations

To make sure you have the best time and know what to expect from us on your trip, please take note of the following:

direct contact with your armada team

Contact levels are different vs. other holiday types where you are in one base the whole time. Communication about the daily schedule is mainly via WhatsApp channels. Your reps will drop in when you get into the day's stop, but remember they might be busy setting up an exciting event for you later!

independent adventure

armada is a choose-you-own-adventure week, and best part of that is getting to be independent! You'll get the most out of your armada experience by taking ownership of your time, exploring on your own, working out the boat, getting your provisions, etc. Maybe you'll discover a hidden gem we've never seen!

different types of armada crew

Our reps are there to make sure you have the best time when moored up, from beach olympics to sunset cocktails, they'll keep you entertained on land! Our skippers are the experts on water. They'll get you safely from A to B. Please note, they are not there to be a rep and you will see your reps on land.

look out for each other

Our armada crew will always try and help when possible, but we cannot be an emergency service. Just as you would back home or on an independent holiday, it is you for you decide if the emergency services are required - please call 112.

top tips for enjoying your week

extra things you can do

be your own DJ:

Don't forget to curate your own Spotify playlist with your fave banging tunes for pure positive vibes. Some of the boats will have bluetooth but bring an aux cord with you to be safe.

hang with the flotilla. we're a force on the move:

Expect there to be a flotilla of boats on your week, each sailing independently. Throw yourself into our specially designed evening events to get to know everyone. You never know, you might meet your besties for life...

don't risk low battery mode:

Although there will be USB ports on board, you might want to bring a battery pack to make sure your phone stays powered, so you can capture those all-important 'gram-worthy pics and vids no roads (or sea sickness) where we're going.

We sail on flat waters like a lake, so you're unlikely to suffer from seasickness. If you are prone to being a bit queasy on boats, bring some Stugeron and stay on deck when the yachts are moving.

want even more adrenaline?

Speak to a member of the team to book even more thrilling watersports or land adventures like Vespa riding, jet skiing or paragliding.

learn the lingo:

Check out our lowdown on all sea terms. Think pirates after a few beers.

swap suitcases for soft luggage:

the cabins are cosy and the storage is tricky for hard cases so bring duffels or backpacks instead.

card/party games:

To liven up those drinking games.

keep in touch:

Use a WhatsApp group for your everyone on your yacht, to easily communicate plans throughout the week.

sunscreen sunscreen sunscreen:

we cannot emphasize this enough

get on the road, sorry, sea:

Aim to leave between 10/11am each morning. It's easy to lounge around until after mid-day, but the yachts need to get into harbour and are parked by 4/5 most days, so don't waste valuable swim time hanging around each morning.

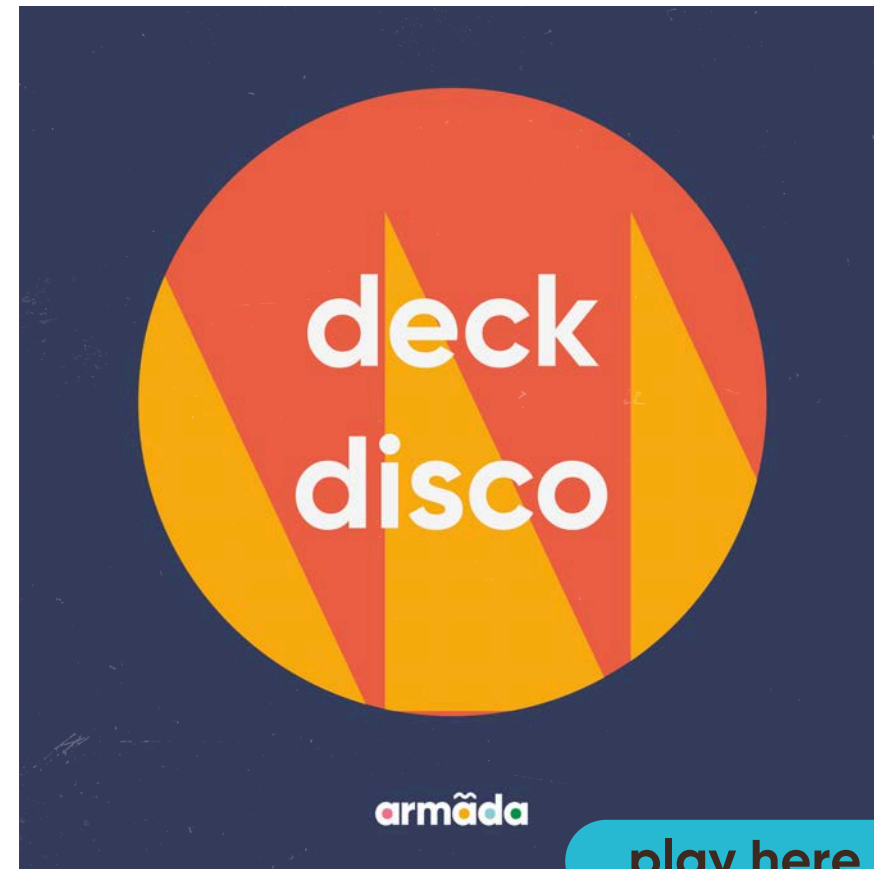

don't lose your boat:

On arrival, take a photo of your yacht name (it's on the back of the yacht) and save the photo as your screen saver on your phone. All yachts look very similar when you're returning back to them after a couple of drinks, things can get a little tricky sometimes
